

Stull and Lee Incorporated architecture • planning

CHICAGO SOUTH SIDE - FOURTH WARD CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Working with an advisory group convened by the District Alderman, Stull and Lee helped the group consider the implications of greater height and density as this once fashionable historic lakefront neighborhood continues a remarkable renaissance. In addition to addressing district wide urban design issues, Stull and Lee also recommended site specific design interventions for key early action sites.

S+L subsequently designed Oakwood Shores Terrace, a mixed use residential and medical building identified as an early action Project.

